

Trent Barton News

Things may be changing for you...

From Sunday 9 July 2017, Broadmarsh bus station will close its doors and kick out the pigeons to make way for a shiny new bus station and car park.

The work is expected to last for two years, and during that time our buses will relocate to the surrounding streets.

We've tried to keep disruption to an absolute minimum, and during the works we'll have team members on the ground to help communicate these changes and make sure we don't leave anybody behind.

We appreciate your patience, and please be rest assured that our team will do their best to keep you moving.

Where to catch your bus in the city centre
