Dear residents,

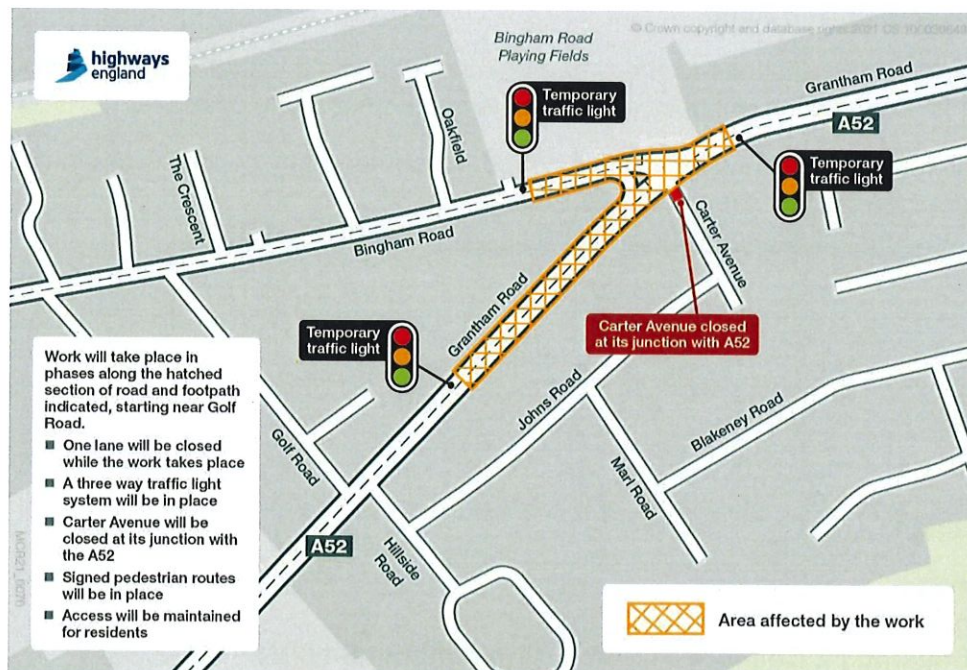

We wrote to you on 18 March 2021 to advise that we would soon be undertaking utility diversion works at the Bingham Road (Harlequin) junction on the A52 and we are now able to share details of these works with you.

We will be performing utility works (gas, electric, water and telecoms) to safely move these utilities in advance of our proposed main highway works. These works are scheduled to begin on 21 June 2021 and will be conducted primarily through daytime working.

How will the work affect traffic?

We will carry out work in phases along the A52, beginning near Golf Road and moving along the A52, ending near Bingham Road.

To maintain a safe environment for our workforce and customers, we'll need to close one lane, put temporary traffic lights in place and close Carter Avenue at the junction with the A52 for approximately 12 weeks; see image below.

Area where works will be carried out

There will be limited capacity at the junction while these works are carried out. Some congestion and delays are to be expected. We would advise all customers to plan ahead and use alternative routes wherever possible while these works take place.
